 RECONSTRUCTING
JUDAISM
Deeply rooted. Boldly relevant.

Rabbi's Reflections

BLACK JEWS IN AMERICA

BY RABBI LINA ZERBARINI

February is Black History Month in the US. Why is this relevant for a synagogue newsletter? Because there is a long history of Black Jews in America.

When I was in college in New York City, I met Yowkanon, who grew up in a Black Jewish congregation in Harlem. Perhaps his congregation was the Royal Order of Ethiopian Hebrews, or the Commandment Keepers Ethiopian Hebrew Congregation, or B'nai Adath Kol Yisroel, or Kohol Beth B'nai Yisroel, or Beth Banai Abraham, or the Moorish Zionist Temple. (More information on the Harlem communities here.)

For many Black Jews of these communities, their connection to Jewishness was rooted in a claim to Ethiopian heritage. Some stories are similar to those of other crypto-Jews. Rabbi Louise Dailey, founder of the Black Israelite synagogue in Philadelphia, recounted that her father was an orthodox Baptist minister, but was, however, unorthodox in that he would gather the men of the community, and have Bible study on Saturdays. Reverend Spencer also had a strange habit of wearing his hat at all times. Rabbi Dailey could not remember seeing him without it. The family salted their meat before cooking it, and they covered the mirrors when there was a death in the family, sitting quietly in darkened rooms for seven days. The Spencer family were strict about "Sabbath" worship, which for them was Sunday. The family was not allowed to do any work, play in the streets, go to the theater, or have any other pleasures on that day, in honor of the directive in the Commandments. Mother Dailey once worked as a domestic in a Jewish home and recognized the practices she saw there as those of her father.

While Israelite and “mainstream” Jewish communities have not often come together, the congregation that she founded, Congregation Temple Beth’El, in Northwest Philadelphia, has long had connections with the establishment/white Jewish community. Conservative Rabbi Seymour Rosenbloom worked with the congregation for many years, and the current rabbi and daughter of the founder has taken classes at the Reconstructionist Rabbinical College.

Rabbi Capers Funnye is the Chief Rabbi of the International Israelite Board of Rabbis (and a cousin of former First Lady Michelle Obama) and is a member of the Chicago Board of Rabbis and sits on the board of the Jewish Council on Urban Affairs. Perhaps we might reach out to the Israelite community in St. Albans, Beth Elohim Hebrew Congregation?

Sometimes, we use the word “Yiddishkeit” to mean Jewishness – and to be fair, that is what it means. But it refers to Ashkenazi Jewish culture, the culture of Jews from Eastern Europe. But Jews spoke – and speak – many Jewish languages: Ladino, Judeo-Arabic, Judeo-Italian, Judeo-Persian, Judeo-Aramaic, Judeo-Marathi, Judeo-Malayalam, Judeo-Tat, and Bukharian, among others. Be’chol Lashon (Hebrew for “in every language”) is an organization that seeks to raise awareness about the ethnic, racial and cultural diversity of Jewish identity and experience. The Jewish Multiracial Network hosts (pre-pandemic) an annual retreat for Jews of Color and multiracial families. Jews in all Hues supports Jews of Color and multi-heritage Jews.

Our Lunch & Learn group recently read Love-song, Julius Lester’s memoir about his conversion to Judaism. As a Black man who converted in 1988, he felt his only model was Sammy Davis, Jr.

Ethiopian Hebrews Series, No. 37, by Alexander Alland, c. 1940, The Jewish Museum

Today, he would have more company. Whether due to conversion, adoption, multiracial families, or lineage going back thousands of years, today there are many more Black Jews as members, leaders, and rabbis in the mainstream Jewish community. Our own community reflects this reality.

Reconstructing Judaism, our movement’s national body, established a Jews of Color and Allies Advisory Group, to “ensure that our Jewish communities provide a safe, supportive, loving and empowering haven for all of us, most especially Jews of Color.” To this end, the Board of Reconstructing Judaism adopted Commitments to Racial Justice recommended by the advisory group.

As we enter Black History Month, we remember that there are many members of our Kehillath Shalom and wider Jewish community for whom Black history is personal. It is their own history, and that of their parents, children, partners. The Jewish people is, and has always been, a diverse community, from the moment of the exodus from Egypt, when the “mixed multitude” left with the children of Israel and became part of them. Let us, as the RJ Commitments state: “acknowledge and embrace the full, beautiful expanse of the Jewish people.” ❖

February: Short but Busy

BY BEVERLY MANNIX

30 days hath September
 April, June, and November.
 All the rest have 31,
 Except February
 Which got the short stick because it's cold and no one likes it.

I certainly don't agree with that version of the famous ditty because even though February is the shortest and coldest month, there are so many occasions to celebrate. In my career as a recreation therapist, it was always challenging to fit all the February special events into our monthly activities calendar. One of those events, Chinese New Year or Lunar New Year, starts on February 1st, and begins with the new moon. 2022 is the Year of the Tiger. A day of renewal, purification, and hope comes on February 2nd and is known as Candlemas. That's also the day we are all waiting to see if the groundhog sees his shadow as a predictor of the length of winter. As a former Pennsylvanian, I look forward each year to the prediction made by Punxsutawney Phil.

Let's hope for a short winter this year and that he doesn't see his shadow!

I'm sure many of you already know that the 9th is National Pizza Day. Were you aware that 17% of all restaurants in the United States are pizzerias and the first one to open was in New York City in 1895? Many of us will be ordering from our favorite pizzeria on February 13th as we watch the Super Bowl, scheduled to be televised from Los Angeles. No predictions from me as I do not follow sports of any kind at all!

Abraham Lincoln's birthday is the 12th and is a state holiday in Illinois. George Washington's birthday is the 22nd. So as not to give us two different days off from work and school, we now celebrate Presidents' Day on the third Monday in February. This tradition began in 1971 as part of the Uniform Monday Holiday Act to create more three-day weekends for our nation's workers. It is now viewed as a day to celebrate all of our U.S. presidents, past and present (although some of us don't celebrate all of them).

In 1976 Black History Month officially began. It celebrates the achievements by African Americans and recognizes their central role in American history. Historian George Woodson, the son of former slaves and the second African American to receive a doctorate from Harvard, founded this to recognize a way to understand Black histories, racism and slavery. It was also chosen to be in February since Lincoln (2/12) and Frederick Douglass (2/14) both have birthdays this month.

Who will be sending candy or flowers on February 14th to celebrate Valentine's Day? Legend has it that Valentine was a priest in the third century in Rome. When Claudius declared that single men made better soldiers than those with wives and families, he outlawed marriage for young men. Valentine realized this was an injustice and continued to secretly perform marriages. Once discovered he was put to death. My theory is chocolate makers, Hallmark, and all the florists came up with the idea.

February also has Tater Tot Day, Wear Red Day for National Heart Month, Drink Wine Day, Umbrella Day, and Bob Marley's birthday. Short month but lots of going on!

And this brings me to Kehillath Shalom. We are one of the smaller synagogues on Long Island, but have an incredible number of activities. In addition to Friday night candle lighting and Shabbat services available in person (temporarily suspended as of this writing, but we hope to reinstate them soon) and on Zoom, there are so many activities to take part in. Bagels and Books meets monthly and besides refreshments (lately eaten at home), includes lively discussions (on Zoom) on Jewish themed books. Movies and Munchies features a movie watched independently and meets for a Zoom discussion of the film. Once a month Rabbi Lina serves up one of her delicious home-made soups for Soup Shabbat. If you can't attend in person, she will gladly make arrangements for you to pick it up and enjoy at home while Zooming. And we have a monthly Mindful Meditation Shabbat and a quarterly Meditation Walk at Target Rock.

Our Ritual Committee has planned many interesting programs for the upcoming Jewish holidays including a Purim celebration, a Community Passover Seder, and Lag Ba Omer event. There are also some special themed Friday Night services. The Israel Connections and Jewish Affairs Committee holds forums about every six weeks giving updates and reports from the Middle East led by our very knowledgeable congregant, Nissim Yehekel. The Committee for Racial Justice features speakers and films so pertinent to our lives today. Every Thursday at Lunch and Learn, Rabbi Lina leads thought-provoking discussions on books such as the Talmud, The Jew in the Lotus, and our most recent selection, Lovesong, or on subjects such as our current one, Shmita. She also offers some very interesting Adult Education programs featuring many different topics relevant to all of us. We welcome each new month by gathering for Rosh Chodesh, drawing on a theme from the upcoming month and a Jewish woman in text, tradition, or history. Our Fund-Raising committee has had many “Fun” Raising events for the family including a miniature golf outing, bowling party, Zoom Bingo and, this month, Long Island Trivia Night. There are many more activities to look forward to.

So please check out the Rabbi’s Round Up every Wednesday to see what is happening each week. We have so much going on, just like the month of February, and hope all of you are able to take part in our many programs. ❖

Our January discussion of Max Gross' The Lost Shtetl, was, like the book itself, funny and serious in turns, as well as lively. Although there were some quibbles as to the quality of the writing and dissatisfaction with the rather abrupt ending, there was general agreement that it was an excellent selection.

On February 20 we will be talking about What We Will Become: A Mother, a Son, and a Journey of Transformation, by Mimi Lemay. Named Em at birth, Lemay's middle child resolutely declared himself to be a boy from age two. Lemay chronicles her family's journey as their household evolved and adapted; it is the stark story of losing a daughter and gaining a son, Jacob.

This is also the story of three generations seeking their true selves: in addition to her son's journey, Lemay chronicles the dissolution of her parents' marriage, and her own experiences of being raised by an ultra-Orthodox mother and ultimately leaving the ultra-Orthodoxy in which she had been raised.

For the rest of the year:

March 20 — The Book of Lost Names, by Kristin Harmel

April 24 — The Last Kings of Shanghai: The Rival Jewish Dynasties that Helped Create Modern China, by Jonathan Kaufman

May 22 — The Hidden Palace: A Novel of the Golem and the Jinni, by Helene Wecker

June 26 — Concealed: Memoir of a Jewish-Iranian Daughter Caught Between the Chador and America, by Esther Amini

Until further notice, we will continue Zooming on Barbara Kremen's account at 10 am Sundays. Bring your own bagel, lox, and coffee, or whatever Sunday morning treat you'd like and please join us for any books that interest you. RSVP to Barbara, bskhere@yahoo.com. ❖

Denial

Wednesday, February 16

7:30 pm

On Zoom

Denial, directed by Mick Jackson, is a biographical drama which relates American Professor of Holocaust Studies Deborah E. Lipstadt's legal battle for historical truth against David Irving, a Nazi Germany scholar, bigot and Holocaust denier. The film, called a satisfying, impactful drama, tells an important story about the fight for truth and the importance of history. Denial could not be more timely "as we enter an era of increased anti-Semitism sanctioned by pervading populism."

Denial is available in Nassau and Suffolk libraries, and on Kanopy. You can rent/buy it on VuDu, Prime Video, or Apple TV.

Watch at home at your convenience, and join us on Zoom on Wednesday, February 16, at 7:30 for our discussion.

RSVP to Lois Hass - LoisH4@aol.com or Dolores Weinberg - Doloresw324@aol.com.

Sunday, February 6 @10 AM

Welcome the first month of Adar, and consider the Persian kings' obligatory "beauty pageant." We will look at the expectations for our bodies through the lens of "Fat Torah," and consider the legacy of Lena Bryant Malsin, the first to create ready-to-wear clothing for pregnant and larger women. If in person, we'll create our own figures from clay. RSVP to Rabbi Lina required.

When Governor Cuomo was forced out of office due to his interactions with female staff, public reaction seemed to fall across generational lines. Some older women seemed to say: "you're young, you're attractive, get over it," while younger women's responses seemed to be: "just because women have been dealing with this for centuries doesn't mean we need to do so!" Does this reflect the split between Vashti and Esther? Join us to welcome Adar II, connect with community, discuss the above, plus: a creative project. RSVP for location.

A MUSICAL SHABBAT

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 18 @ 6:30 PM

Please join us for A Musical Shabbat on Friday, February 18 at 6:30 pm. The Ritual Committee will present a Friday Evening service, and prayers will be streamed highlighting contemporary musicians such as Elana Arian and Josh Warshawsky. We invite you to sit back, relax, and enjoy innovative melodies and arrangements.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 2 – 7:30

Anti-Semitism, Racism, and White Nationalism

We'll watch an interview with Eric Ward, a nationally-recognized expert on the relationship between authoritarian movements, hate violence, and preserving inclusive democracy, by Rabbi Lauren Grabelle Herrmann of SAJ: Judaism that Stands for All.

SAVE THE DATE: SUNDAY, MARCH 13

10 am – 12 noon

Through a Reconstructionist Lens: Economic Justice

Together we will watch a 45-minute video conversation about economic justice, shmita, and Reconstructionism. Rabbi Mordechai Liebling leads the discussion that features Rabbi Michael Pollack and Mark Pinsky. Mark will also join us Sunday morning and take our questions.

Rabbi Liebling is director of the newly-created Social Justice Organizing Program at the Reconstructionist Rabbinical College. He served for twelve years as Executive Director of the Jewish Reconstructionist Federation.

Mark Pinsky, a strategic leader, thinker, and writer, has advised major financial institutions and small non-profits, three Presidential administrations and sixteen Congresses, the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, and community development financial institutions (CDFIs).

Rabbi Michael Pollack, a Philadelphia rabbi, directs the MarchOnHarrisburg, an organization committed to advocating for democracy and against corruption in government at the state level.

Please plan on joining us for this wide-ranging important discussion.

We also begin two irregularly-scheduled features:

Lucille Clifton, a noted Black poet, was born in 1936 in Buffalo. She was awarded the prestigious Ruth Lilly Poetry Prize in 2007, the judges noting: "One always feels the looming humaneness around Lucille Clifton's poems—it is a moral quality that some poets have and some don't." She was the first author to have two books of poetry chosen as finalists for the Pulitzer Prize, Good Woman: Poems and a Memoir, 1969-1980 and Next: New Poems. Her collection Two-Headed Woman was also a Pulitzer nominee. Maryland's poet laureate from 1974 until 1985, she won the prestigious National Book Award for Blessing the Boats: New and Selected Poems, 1988-2000. In addition to her numerous poetry collections, she wrote many children's books. She died in 2010. ❖

KSS MLK DAY OF SERVICE ON NBC CHANNEL 4 NEWS

“In good times and in hard times, we are called to be רחמנים בני רחמנים rachmanim b'nai rachmanim - merciful ones, descended from merciful ones.”

So said Rabbi Lina about our MLK Day of Service project, when adults and young people gathered at KSS to make sandwiches, soup, and cupcakes for Helping Hand Rescue Mission.

NBC Channel 4 News sent a team to report on our work, and if you missed the broadcast on January 18, you can watch it here. ❖

PLANNING FOR OUR FUTURE

For half a century and more, Kehillath Shalom Synagogue has played a role in the lives of generations of Jewish families. Through their work and their resources, the congregation's pioneers made it possible for KSS to thrive and to survive for the generations to come. That work continues as does the opportunity to keep Kehillath Shalom active and vibrant for those who will come through its door tomorrow after tomorrow.

In the spirit of L'Dor v'Dor (“From generation to generation”), join those who have made a provision for Kehillath Shalom in planning for the future through their estate and financial planning. Your gift can help assure the long-term viability of the synagogue.

You can contribute by:

- ★ Making a bequest to Kehillath Shalom in your will
- ★ Making Kehillath Shalom a beneficiary of your retirement 403(b) or 401(k) account
- ★ Making Kehillath Shalom a beneficiary of your IRA or of your IRA's yearly Minimum Required Distribution

If you need more information, have questions, or would like to speak with someone from the Fundraising Committee about KSS' Long Term Planning options, please call the office at 631-367-4589 or email AbbyPariser@gmail.com. ❖
