Rabbi's Reflections

Songs for the Days

BY RABBI LINA ZERBARINI

This year, the “Yoms” all fall in May. The Yoms are the series of modern and secular commemorations that come in the days following Passover. Yom HaShoah, Holocaust Remembrance Day; Yom HaZikaron, Israeli Memorial Day; and Yom HaAtzma'ut, Israeli Independence Day. These fall over ten days, and are a mixture of sorrow, hope, and joy.

A few shirim (a shir is both a poem and a song) for these days that are significant to me:

Yom HaShoah v'HaGevurah

Written in Pencil in the Sealed Freightcar

Here in this carload
I am Eve
With my son Abel
If you see my older boy
Cain son of Adam
Tell him that I...

Dan Pagis

I first encountered this poem at Yad VaShem, Israel's Holocaust Memorial.

Yom HaShoah is officially called: Yom HaZikaron laShoah v'laGevurah – Holocaust and Heroes' Remembrance Day. It is set on the 27th of Nisan, the day upon which the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising began (April 19, 1943). This was the largest single revolt by Jews during World War II. In the face of certain defeat and death, they refused to be powerless, and held the German army off for nearly a month. But the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising was not the only source of resistance, which took many forms, in many places.

One of the first organized resistances took place in the Vilna Ghetto, in 1942. Hirsh Glik was a Yiddish poet and editor, born in Vilna in 1922. In 1941, Glik was sent to the Vilna Ghetto, where he became part of the underground resistance, as well as the Ghetto's artistic and intellectual community. He wrote what has come to be known as The Partisan's Hymn:

Never say this is the final road for you,
Though leadened skies may cover over days of blue.
As the hour that we longed for is so near,
Our step beats out the message – we are here!

From lands so green with palms to lands all white with snow,

We shall be coming with our anguish and our woe,
And where a spurt of our blood fell on the earth,
There our courage and our spirit have rebirth.

The early morning sun will brighten our day,
And yesterday with our foe will fade away

Songs for the Days

But if the sun delays and in the east remains –
This song as password generations must maintain.

This song was written with our blood and not with lead,
It's not a little tune that birds sing overhead.
This song a people sang amid collapsing walls,
With grenades in hand they heeded to the call.

Therefore never say this is the final road for you,
Though leadened skies may cover over days of blue.
As the hour that we longed for is so near,
Our step beats out the message – we are here!

Listen to it here in the original Yiddish, with pictures of resistance fighters.

When I think of a shir for Yom HaZikaron, I think of Rachel Shapira's poem in memory of her childhood friend Eldad Krock, who was killed in one of the most intense battles in 1967's Six Day War, at Givat Hatachmoshet (Ammunition Hill).

Ma Avarech (How Shall I Bless Him), by Rachel Shapira

How should I bless him, with what should he be blessed?
Is it this boy? The angel asked (2x)
And he blessed him with a shining smile
And he blessed him with big seeing eyes
To catch every flower, animal and bird
And a heart to feel all he sees

How should I bless him, with what should he be blessed?
Is it this youngster? The angel asked (2x)
And he blessed him with legs to dance
And a soul to remember all the rhythms
And a hand that collects shells on the beach
And a listening ear for old and young

How should I bless him, with what should he be blessed?
Is it this young man? The angel asked (2x)
And he blessed his powers with experienced hands
To succeed in controlling the power of steel
And legs to dance along the journey
And lips singing the rhythm of command

How should I bless him, with what should he be blessed?
Is it this man? The angel asked (2x)
I gave him all that I could give
A song, a smile, and legs to dance with
A soft hand and a beating heart
And what else should I bless you with?

How should I bless him, with what should he be blessed?
Is it this boy, the soft young man? (2x)
This youngster, is an angel now
Will not be blessed any longer, not blessed anymore
God, God, God –
If only you blessed him with life!

The poem was put to music by Yair Rosenberg.
Listen to the original recording by Rivka Zohar and the Navy band here.

And for Yom HaAtzma'ut, I think of Naomi Shemer's Al Kol Eleh, Over All These Things.

Over all these things
Over the honey and the stinger
Over the bitter and the sweet
And over our baby girl
Please guard my good lord
Over the burning fire
Over the crystal clear water
And over the man who is coming home
From afar

Over all these things, over all these things
Please stand guard for me my good

God

Over the honey and the stinger
Over the bitter and the sweet
Don't uproot a sapling
Don't forget the hope
May you return me, and may I return
To the good land

Save the houses that we live in
The small fences and the wall
From the sudden war-like thunder
May you save them all.
Guard what little I've been given

Long Island Supports Israel: An Advocacy Resource

Long Island Supports Israel is a website designed and managed by the shared Communications department at the Suffolk Y JCC & Mid-Island Y JCC. The communication team is constantly updating the webpage with new events, advocacy, education, and collections/donations based on information received from sources across Long Island.

Contributions from a coalition of Israel advocates from the Huntington area, including Kehillath Shalom, appear on the site including local programs and special events.

You may want to read 5 Reasons Why the Events in Gaza are Not 'Genocide' and share it with your grandchildren or view the Profiles in Courage, featuring people like Bassem Eid, a prominent Palestinian "political analyst, human rights pioneer and expert commentator in Arab and Palestinian affairs."

Long Island Stands with Israel in Solidarity and Song, an event inspired by the need for local advocacy, was held at the Suffolk YJCC in Commack on Sunday, April 14. This happened to be the day after Iran's aerial attack on Israel. Advertised as "An evening of uplifting prayers & song," the program delivered more than promised to an audience reeling from the latest assault upon the Jewish homeland.

I encourage you to check out the website.

Do You Zelle?

KSS can now receive payments through Zelle, the quick, convenient, no-fee online payment system used by Bank of America, Capital One, Chase, Citi, and many other banks.

Make donations, pay for special events, pay dues — no checks, no stamps, no fees. Log into your bank account, find Zelle, and send to kehillathshalom@optonline.net.

Note: Do NOT Zelle to the office phone! It won't work!

Easy as aleph, bet, gimel! ❖

Guard the hill my child might climb
Let the fruit that's yet to ripen
Not be plucked before its time.

As the wind makes rustling night sounds
And a star falls in its arc
All my dreams and my desires
Form crystal shapes out of the dark.
Guard for me, oh Lord, these treasures
All my friends keep safe and strong,
Guard the stillness, guard the weeping,
And above all, guard this song.

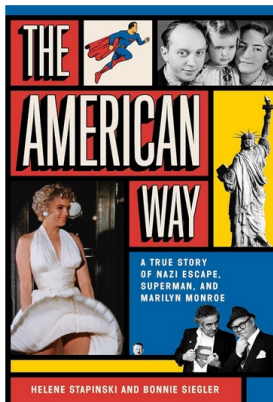

This song represents the deep connection to the land and the longing for safety and the deep wisdom that life includes both sweet and bitter, both honey and sting.

Listen to a performance of 12,000 Israelis with Kooloolam, "social-musical initiative aimed at strengthening the fabric of society, centering around mass-singing events," here. And see their YouTube channel, with many of their extraordinary events, here.

May these shirim inspire us and enrich our observances. ❖

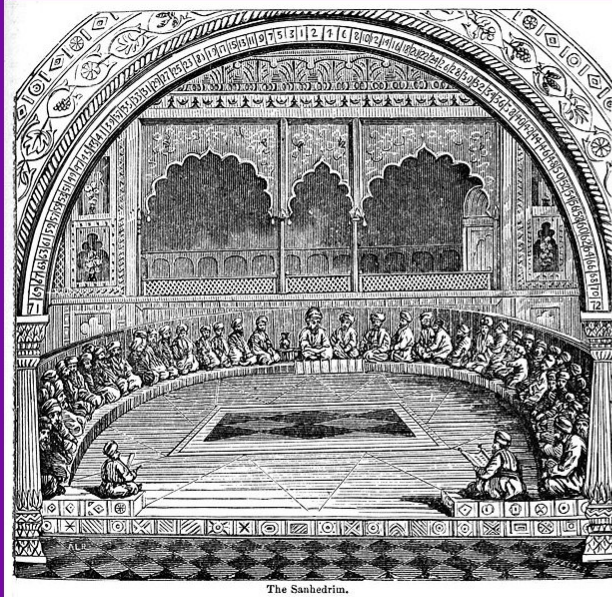

THE AMERICAN WAY AT THE LAST CHAPTER CANCELLED

Unfortunately, due to unresolvable complications, we have had to cancel the May 22 appearance of The American Way authors Bonnie Siegler and Helene Stapinski at The Last Chapter.

The book is still our Bagels & Books selection for June, and we hope Bonnie will be able to join us then. We hope, as well, that many non-B&B regulars will join us for what promises to be a fascinating discussion of a terrific book.

Watch TWAKS and your email for further information. ❖

NEW SECURITY BARRIERS AT KSS

If you've been at KSS recently, you'll have noticed our new security barriers: boulders along Goose Hill Road and at the edge of the north parking lot, and planters in the south lot. These enhancements were funded by the security grant from the Department of Homeland Security.

Many thanks to ALAN WACHTEL for overseeing this project from start to finish. ❖

PASSOVER AT KSS

About three dozen KSS members and friends gathered to celebrate our traditional Second Night Seder under the leadership of Rabbi Lina.

We read the Haggadah, tasted a variety of charoset from different members, as well as the traditional bitter herbs, greens, salt water, and matzo; sang, and enjoyed a delicious meal of gefilte fish, matzo ball soup, roast chicken, brisket, carrots, asparagus, and potatoes. (There was so much, I may have forgotten something!) And, of course, afikomen for dessert.

Many, many thanks to ABBY PARISER for organizing, arranging, and supervising, with substantial help from PETER GOLLON and all those who pitched in. ❖

ISRAEL'S WAR – FROM THE FRONT TO THE PR FRONTLINES

Wednesday, May 22, 7 pm, East Northport Jewish Center

Join us for an insightful and compelling lecture by Dany Berditchevsky, a reserve Master Sergeant and infantry medic in the IDF.

Drawing from his extensive experience on the battlefield during a five-month deployment, Dany provides unique insights into the current situation in Israel. As a seasoned Master Sergeant of a medical front line unit, he witnessed firsthand the challenges and complexities faced by Israel in its ongoing struggle for security and survival.

In this thought-provoking lecture, Dany shares his firsthand experiences and analyses of the ever-evolving dynamics in the region. From navigating the intricacies of military operations to understanding the broader geopolitical landscape, he offers a comprehensive perspective on the realities of Israel's security challenges.

Moreover, Dany delves into the critical role of public relations in Israel's ongoing struggle. As the chief guide and director of the Spanish outreach, "We Walk Together," he leads a groundbreaking initiative aimed at connecting Americans to Israel and combating misinformation while promoting the truth about the country. In the face of overwhelming odds and biased narratives, Dany discusses the innovative approaches and strategies employed by his organization to effectively convey Israel's story to the world.

Don't miss this opportunity to gain firsthand insights into the current situation in Israel and learn about the vital efforts being undertaken to defend Israel's truth in the global arena. Join us for an enlightening discussion with Dany as we explore the challenges and triumphs of Israel's hardest war - the public relations war. ❖

Kidnapped

Friday, May 3rd
at 7 PM
& Sunday, May
5th at 7 PM

The great Italian filmmaker Marco Bellocchio, now 84, has made one of the most stylish and operatic films of his career. Kidnapped depicts the scandalous true story of Edgardo Mortara, a six-year-old Jewish boy who, in 1858, was baptized by his caretaker, and abducted by order of the Pope, to be raised as a Catholic. Edgardo became the center of an international firestorm as his parents fought to retrieve their child from the clutches of a ruthless theocratic government; the case led to historical change.

The Other Widow

Featuring a pre-recorded Q&A with director Maayan Rypp
Saturday, May 4th
at 2 PM
& Tuesday, May 7th
at 7 PM

Nominated for 9 Ophir awards (Israeli Oscars) including Best Film, Best Director, and Best Actress, this wonderfully observed comedic drama follows Ella (Dana Ivgy) who is in a long-term affair with Assaf, a married playwright. When Assaf dies unexpectedly, Ella decides to attend Shiva while keeping her identity under wraps, diving into a world once forbidden to her. Through intimate encounters with his family, she examines her place in his life and eventually demands her legitimate right to mourn.

The Goldman Case

Saturday, May 4th
at 4 PM
& Monday, May 6th
at 7 PM

This gripping courtroom drama delves into the sensational 1976 trial of Pierre Goldman, a Jewish activist defending himself against multiple charges, including murder. Goldman steadfastly maintained his innocence, while the facts of his case became a flash point for a generation, raising questions of antisemitism and political ideology. Directed with historical precision, The Goldman Case is both subdued and electrifying, communicating so much about the complexity of Jewish identity in recent European history.

How to Come Alive with Norman Mailer

Saturday, May 4th
at 7 PM

Norman Mailer, a towering figure in American literature, had a life that was certainly stranger than fiction. From his formative years in Brooklyn, through his career as a preeminent cultural voice, we follow Mailer's life through 6 marriages, 9 children, 11 bestselling books and 2 Pulitzer Prizes as he solidifies his place in the literary pantheon. With access to Mailer's family and never before seen footage, this biography details the life and times of an American icon.

The Ancient Law

With live accompaniment by Alicia Svigals & Donald
Sosin
Sunday, May 5th
at 2 PM

This rarely seen silent film from Weimar Era Germany tells the dramatic story of Baruch, a young shtetl Jew and the son of a Rabbi, who leaves his family and community, seeking a secular career as a stage actor. Featuring wonderful scenes depicting shtetl life, the film paints a complex portrait of the tension between tradition and modernity. Like so many other Jewish artists of the era, director E.A. Dupont and star Ernst Deutsch were both forced to flee their homelands as the Nazis rose to power.

Brighton Beach

With director Susan
Wittenberg in-person
Sunday, May 5th
at 5 PM

Set against the iconic Coney Island boardwalk, Brighton Beach is a neighborhood in constant re-formation. This 1980 documentary offers a genuine portrait of the immigrant communities that changed the Brooklyn neighborhood as they mingle on the boardwalk, eye one another, and coexist around a shared sense of uprootedness. From directors Susan Wittenberg and Carol Stein, Brighton Beach is an unposed, seductively shot, color film about life's simple pleasures and the creating of a community.

bagels & books

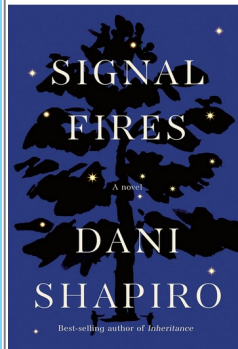

Our April discussion of Ellen Feldman's The Living and the Lost was infinitely enhanced by Rita Fenderson's first-hand recollections of Berlin during the post-war period in which the book is set, as well as her memories of the war itself. The book received universal approval, and we agreed that it would be worth considering other of Feldman's books in the future. Many thanks to Rita as well for her hospitality.

Our May book is Signal Fires, by Dani Shapiro. Division Street is full of secrets. An impulsive lie begets a secret—one which will forever haunt the Wilf family. And the Shenkmans, who move into the neighborhood many years later, bring secrets of their own. Spanning fifty kaleidoscopic years, on a street—and in a galaxy—where stars collapse and stories collide, these two families become bound in ways they never could have imagined. It is a magical story for our times, a literary tour de force by a masterful storyteller at the height of her powers, as luminous meditation on family, memory, and the healing power of interconnectedness.

Our last book, on June 30, will be The American Way, by Bonnie Siegler and Helene Stapinski.

NOTE: We switched the May and June books as Bonnie Siegler and Helene Stapinski were originally scheduled to appear at The Next Chapter in April, where we would have had the opportunity to hear them talk about and have them sign our copies of The American Way before our own discussion. The bookstore appearance, rescheduled for May, has now been cancelled altogether, but the book switch remains. See info elsewhere in the Newsletter.

Watch TWAKS and your email for location and Zoom info, and please join us for any and all books that interest you (Coming just once is fine!), as well as for bagels, lox, coffee, and other goodies, as well as stimulating discussion on a Sunday morning. ❖
